ARGUMENT.

MIGNON, the daughter of noble parents, has, when a child, been stolen from her ancestral home by gipsies. Her mother, shortly after this bereavement, dies of grief; while LOTHARIO, the broken-hearted father, almost deprived of reason by the loss of his daughter, forsakes his home, and roams as a minstrel from place to place, in search of his darling child. For years, MIGNON, utterly unconscious of her birth and origin, leads a wandering life with the gipsy tribe, of which her beauty renders her the most prominent ornament. The chief, GIARNO, who combines the avocation of mountebank with that of gipsy, compels the hapless girl to dance, and go through various other performances, in order to obtain money from the inhabitants of the towns through which they pass, and harshly threatens her with his stick, whenever, from fatigue, she refuses to do his bidding. GUGLIELMO, a young student on his travels, happens on one of these occasions to be a spectator of Giarno's ferocity; and, in order to prevent the recurrence of such ill-treatment, he purchases Mignon from her cruel master. The friendless Mignon, deeply touched by Guglielmo's kindness, gradually conceives for him an ardent and irrepressible attachment. Guglielmo, however, totally unconscious of the affection which his young protégée has conceived for him, falls a prey to the fascinations of FILINA, a young actress belonging to a troupe of Thespians, on their way to perform at a neighboring castle, where a grand fête is about to take place, in honor of the arrival of some illustrious prince.

Foremost among the guests invited to assist at the festivities, is Guglielmo. Filina, the beautiful but coquettish object of his admiration, is the idol of the hour, and her success in the "private theatricals" at the castle serves but to increase Guglielmo's fondness for the fascinating comédienne. Mignon, who was accompanied her new master to the castle, watches with silent grief the progress of Guglielmo's love for her rival. At length, despondent and unhappy, and unable longer to endure the maddening jealousy which gnaws her heart's core, Mignon is about to throw herself into a lake adjoining the castle, when, of a sudden, a harp, played by an unseen hand, is heard, and in another moment Lothario appears. Abandoning her impious resolve, Mignon, little dreaming that it is her father who stands before her, flies to the aged minstrel and implores his counsel and protection. Carried away by the vehemence of her emotion, she prays that vengeance may overtake the abode in which her hated rival is, at this very moment, in all the glory of her triumph. The performance inside the castle now terminates. Filina appears, surrounded by a tumultuous crowd of admirers, all loud in their praises of the actress's beauty and talents. Mirth and pleasure reign supreme, when, of a sudden, a lurid glare illumines the scene — the castle is in flames! The aged Lothario, whom the voice of nature has unconsciously interested in Mignon's behalf, has, half crazed as he is with grief and trouble, lent an ear to Mignon's rash imprecation, and has set fire to the castle. A scene of terrible confusion ensues. Mignon is nowhere to be found. Guglielmo, after an eager but fruitless search for her, rushes wildly amid the burning rafters, and, in a few moments, reappears, bearing the hapless girl, fainting, in his arms.

In a room in Lothario's manorial residence, on the banks of an Italian lake, lies Mignon, overtaken by a dangerous illness, resulting from the fearful peril she has so lately and so narrowly escaped, as well as from the continued struggle to conceal the affection so long pent up in her breast. Guglielmo, who has meanwhile assisted Lothario in transporting Mignon to the home from which the unhappy parent had so long been absent, has discovered (from the broken sentences which have escaped Mignon during the crisis of her illness) the secret of her affection for him. Through the medium of a long-concealed casket, containing a girdle worn by Mignon when a little child, as well as by her heartfelt utterance of the words of a prayer which her parents had taught her in her infancy, the entranced Lothario discovers, beyond the possibility of a doubt, that Mignon is his long-lost child.

Blessed by the recovery of her sole surviving parent, and enraptured by Guglielmo's fervent, though long delayed avowal of his love for her, Mignon, fanned by the restorative breezes of her native hills, banishes for ever from her memory the recollection of the troubled Past, and confidently looks forward to the bright and happy Future.

MIGNON.
OPERA IN THREE ACTS.
OVERTURE.

AMBROISE THOMAS.

Andantino. (M 116 = ♩)

The first system of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef. The key signature has two flats (B-flat and E-flat), and the time signature is 6/8. The music begins with a piano (p) dynamic. The upper staff features a melodic line with eighth and sixteenth notes, while the lower staff provides a harmonic accompaniment with longer note values.

The second system continues the musical piece. It features a prominent melodic line in the upper staff that descends and then ascends, marked with a dim. (diminuendo) dynamic. The lower staff continues with its accompaniment. A pp (pianissimo) dynamic is indicated in the upper staff.

The third system shows the continuation of the melodic line in the upper staff, which is marked 8va (octave) and dim. The lower staff continues with its accompaniment.

The fourth system is marked Moderato sostenuto. It features a melodic line in the upper staff marked 8va and pp. The lower staff continues with its accompaniment. A p (piano) dynamic is indicated in the upper staff.

The fifth system features a melodic line in the upper staff marked 8va, sf (sforzando), Ped. (pedal), ten. (tenuto), and dim.. The lower staff continues with its accompaniment. A pp dynamic is indicated in the upper staff.

Fourth system of musical notation. Treble and bass staves. Dynamics include tr, rit. e smorzando., and Ped.

Fifth system of musical notation. Treble and bass staves. Dynamics include ppp and mf. A double bar line is present.

Moderato, tempo di Polacca. (100 = ♩)

The first system of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef. The key signature has three sharps (F#, C#, G#) and the time signature is 3/4. The music begins with a forte (f) dynamic in the bass staff, which then diminishes (dim.) and becomes mezzo-forte (mf) in the upper staff. The piece concludes with a piano (p) dynamic in the upper staff.

The second system of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef. The key signature has three sharps (F#, C#, G#) and the time signature is 3/4. The music continues with a piano (p) dynamic in the upper staff.

The third system of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef. The key signature has three sharps (F#, C#, G#) and the time signature is 3/4. The music continues with a piano (p) dynamic in the upper staff.

The fourth system of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef. The key signature has three sharps (F#, C#, G#) and the time signature is 3/4. The music begins with a mezzo-forte (mf) dynamic in the bass staff.

The fifth system of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef. The key signature has three sharps (F#, C#, G#) and the time signature is 3/4. The music features triplets in the upper staff and a forte (f) dynamic in the bass staff, which then diminishes (dim.) and becomes piano (p) in the upper staff. The piece concludes with a forte (f) dynamic in the bass staff.

First system of musical notation. The treble clef staff contains a melodic line with three triplet markings. The bass clef staff contains a bass line with a piano (p) dynamic marking and a forte (ff) dynamic marking. The key signature is two sharps (F# and C#).

Second system of musical notation. The treble clef staff continues the melodic line with triplet markings. The bass clef staff features a piano (p) dynamic marking and a forte (ff) dynamic marking. The key signature remains two sharps.

Third system of musical notation. The treble clef staff has a melodic line with triplet markings. The bass clef staff has a piano (p) dynamic marking. The key signature remains two sharps.

Fourth system of musical notation. The treble clef staff has a melodic line with a flat (b) marking. The bass clef staff has a piano (p) dynamic marking and a flat (b) marking. The key signature changes to one sharp (F#).

Fifth system of musical notation. The treble clef staff has a melodic line with triplet markings and a flat (b) marking. The bass clef staff has a piano (p) dynamic marking. The key signature remains one sharp.

First system of musical notation. The right hand features a complex melodic line with triplets and slurs. The left hand provides a rhythmic accompaniment. Dynamics include f and ff in the first measure, dim. in the second, and p in the third.

Second system of musical notation. The right hand continues with intricate melodic patterns. The left hand accompaniment is steady. Dynamics include f and ff in the first measure, and p in the second.

Third system of musical notation. The right hand has a dense texture with many notes. The left hand accompaniment is more active. Dynamics include f and ff in the first measure, and f in the second.

Fourth system of musical notation. The right hand features a melodic line with slurs. The left hand accompaniment is rhythmic. Dynamics include mf in the first measure, and f in the second.

Fifth system of musical notation. The right hand has a melodic line with triplets. The left hand accompaniment is rhythmic. Dynamics include f and ff in the first measure, dim. in the second, and p in the third.

First system of musical notation, featuring a treble and bass clef. The treble staff contains a complex melodic line with several triplet markings (indicated by the number '3' above groups of notes). The bass staff provides a harmonic accompaniment with chords and moving lines.

Second system of musical notation, continuing the piece. The treble staff shows a dense texture of notes, possibly a sixteenth-note or thirty-second-note passage. The bass staff continues with a steady accompaniment.

Third system of musical notation. The treble staff features a series of chords and melodic fragments, while the bass staff maintains a consistent rhythmic and harmonic support.

Fourth system of musical notation. The treble staff has a more active melodic line with some slurs, and the bass staff continues with its accompaniment.

Fifth system of musical notation, the final system on the page. It includes dynamic markings: dim. (diminuendo) in the first measure and pp (pianissimo) in the second measure. The treble staff shows a melodic line with some grace notes, and the bass staff provides a final accompaniment.

First system of musical notation, featuring a grand staff with treble and bass clefs. The music includes dynamic markings f and mf, and various musical notations such as slurs and ties.

Second system of musical notation, continuing the piece with complex rhythmic patterns and dynamic markings.

Third system of musical notation, featuring a treble clef on the upper staff and a bass clef on the lower staff. It includes dynamic markings p and mf, and a triplet of eighth notes in the bass line.

Fourth system of musical notation, featuring a bass clef on the upper staff and a bass clef on the lower staff. It includes dynamic markings pp and mf, and a triplet of eighth notes in the lower staff.

Fifth system of musical notation, featuring a treble clef on the upper staff and a bass clef on the lower staff. It includes dynamic markings cres and cen, and various musical notations such as slurs and ties.

The first system of the musical score features three vocal staves (Soprano, Alto, and Bass) and a piano accompaniment. The vocal parts are in a homophonic setting, with lyrics in both English and Italian. The piano accompaniment consists of chords and simple melodic lines in the right and left hands.

..... We'll sing!.....
Can - tiam!.....

..... We'll sing!.....
Can - tiam!.....

The second system continues the vocal and piano parts. The vocal staves have dotted lines indicating rests or breath marks. The piano accompaniment features more complex chordal textures and some melodic movement in the right hand.

The third system is primarily piano accompaniment, showing the right and left hand parts. It features a series of chords and melodic fragments, likely serving as a bridge or ending for the piece.

The first system of the musical score consists of five staves. The top two staves are vocal lines for a soprano and an alto. The bottom three staves are for piano accompaniment, including a bass line and a grand staff. The music is in a key with three sharps (F#, C#, G#) and a 4/4 time signature. The lyrics are written below the vocal staves.

 Fe - li - ce e - ven - - to! Di di con-

The first system of music features a vocal line in the upper staff and a piano accompaniment in the lower staff. The vocal line begins with a rest, followed by the lyrics 'What gay pre-sent - - ment! Day of con-'. The piano accompaniment consists of a rhythmic pattern of eighth and sixteenth notes in the right hand and a bass line in the left hand.

The second system continues the vocal and piano parts. The vocal line has a rest followed by '- tent - - ment!' and '- ten - - to!'. The piano accompaniment continues with similar rhythmic patterns.

thirst, hun - ger, good bye!.....
 - fin sa - ziar po - trem!.....

The third system shows the vocal line with the lyrics 'thirst, hun - ger, good bye!.....' and '- fin sa - ziar po - trem!.....'. The piano accompaniment features a more complex texture with some sixteenth-note runs in the right hand and a steady bass line in the left hand.

ACT II.

No. 7.

INTERMEZZO.

Allegretto. (76 = ♩)

The musical score is written for piano in a grand staff (treble and bass clefs). It is in the key of D major (two sharps) and 2/4 time. The tempo is marked Allegretto with a metronome marking of 76 = ♩. The score consists of five systems of music. The first system begins with a fortissimo (ff) dynamic and includes two measures with a first ending bracket labeled '1'. It features 'Sya' (sustained) markings above the treble clef. The second system includes a pianissimo (pp) dynamic. The third, fourth, and fifth systems feature trills (tr) in the right hand. The score concludes with a final chord in the bass clef.

First system of musical notation, featuring a treble and bass clef with a key signature of three sharps (F#, C#, G#). The treble staff contains a melodic line with eighth and sixteenth notes, including a triplet of eighth notes in the fifth measure. The bass staff provides a harmonic accompaniment with chords and moving lines.

Second system of musical notation, continuing the piece. The treble staff features a more active melodic line with sixteenth-note patterns. The bass staff continues with a steady accompaniment.

Third system of musical notation. The treble staff has a melodic line with a trill (tr) in the fifth measure. The bass staff features a rhythmic accompaniment with repeated eighth-note patterns.

Fourth system of musical notation. The treble staff begins with a trill (tr) and contains a melodic line with various ornaments. The bass staff continues with a rhythmic accompaniment.

Fifth system of musical notation, the final system on the page. The treble staff features a melodic line with a wavy hairpin (vibrato) in the second measure. The bass staff continues with a rhythmic accompaniment.

First system of musical notation, measures 1-4. The treble clef has a melodic line with eighth notes. The bass clef has a rhythmic accompaniment of eighth notes. A pp dynamic marking is present in the fourth measure.

Second system of musical notation, measures 5-8. The treble clef has a melodic line with eighth notes and a trill in the eighth measure. The bass clef has a rhythmic accompaniment of eighth notes.

Third system of musical notation, measures 9-12. The treble clef has a melodic line with eighth notes and a trill in the first measure. The bass clef has a rhythmic accompaniment of eighth notes.

Fourth system of musical notation, measures 13-16. The treble clef has a melodic line with eighth notes and trills in measures 13 and 15. The bass clef has a rhythmic accompaniment of eighth notes.

Fifth system of musical notation, measures 17-20. The treble clef has a melodic line with eighth notes. The bass clef has a rhythmic accompaniment of eighth notes. A pp dynamic marking is present in the first measure.

Sixth system of musical notation, measures 21-24. The treble clef has a melodic line with eighth notes. The bass clef has a rhythmic accompaniment of eighth notes. Dynamic markings dim and ppp are present in measures 22 and 23 respectively. The system ends with a double bar line and an asterisk.

SECOND TABLEAU.

A portion of the park adjoining the Baron's castle. At the back, to the right, a conservatory, illuminated from within. To the left, a lake, with reeds, grasses, &c. Music and applause are heard from the wings. MIGNON advances and stands in a listening attitude.

Andante.

The musical score is written for piano and consists of five systems of music. Each system contains two staves: a grand staff (treble and bass clefs) and a single treble clef staff. The key signature is three flats (B-flat, E-flat, A-flat) and the time signature is common time (C). The tempo is marked 'Andante' and the starting measure is numbered 56. The score includes various musical notations such as slurs, ties, and dynamic markings. Pedal points are indicated by 'Ped.' and asterisks (). The first system has two measures with 'Ped.' and '' markings. The second system has one measure with 'Ped.' and '' markings. The third system has two measures with 'Ped.' and '' markings. The fourth system has two measures with 'Ped.' and '' markings. The fifth system has one measure with 'Ped.' and '' markings. The music features a mix of chords and melodic lines, with some passages in the right hand being more complex than others.

Allegro. (132 = ♩)

The musical score is written for piano in 2/4 time, with a key signature of one sharp (F#). It consists of four systems of music, each with a grand staff (treble and bass clefs). The first system begins with a piano (p) dynamic and includes a cres. (crescendo) marking. The second system starts with a fortissimo (ff) dynamic. The third and fourth systems continue the piece with various dynamics and articulations. The score features intricate piano accompaniment with many sixteenth and thirty-second notes, and a melody in the treble clef that is often slurred. The piece concludes with a final cadence in the fourth system.

The first system of music consists of a vocal line in the upper staff and a piano accompaniment in the lower staves. The vocal line begins with a treble clef and a common time signature. The piano accompaniment starts with a grand staff (treble and bass clefs) and includes dynamic markings such as fp and bz. The music is in a minor key, indicated by a flat sign on the key signature.

The first system of music consists of a vocal line in the upper staff and a piano accompaniment in the lower two staves. The vocal line begins with a rest, followed by the lyrics. The piano accompaniment features a steady eighth-note pattern in the right hand and a similar pattern in the left hand, with some chords and triplets.

For years..... in it's lone nook ;
Da mol - - - - - te lu - ne già ;

p Mig. Lot.

The third system shows a change in the piano accompaniment, with a more active right hand. The vocal line continues with the lyrics. The system is marked with 'p' and includes the names 'Mig.' and 'Lot.' above the vocal line.

The fourth system consists of a piano accompaniment in the lower two staves, continuing the rhythmic and harmonic patterns established in the previous systems.
